

RESOURCES FOR SINGERS

These two summer camps have programs geared to singers:

- <https://augustaartsandculture.org/vocal-week-2026/> - in West Virginia
- <https://swannanoagathering.org/traditional-song/> - in North Carolina

There are also singing components at most bluegrass or roots summer camps.

These are two good ones:

- <https://ashokancenter.org/product/bluegrass-camp-2026/> - in NYS
- <https://www.milesofmusiccamp.com/> - in New Hampshire (popular – lottery to attend)

In Brooklyn, Jalopy Theatre and School of Music offers workshops and classes in various singing topics – harmony, technique etc. <https://jalopytheatre.org/classes>

The Exceedingly Good Song Night is a monthly session held at Jalopy Theatre, in Brooklyn. People lead songs, usually about a very loose theme – acapella or with an instrument. It leans towards more traditional or folk styles but all are exceedingly welcome! <https://exceedinglygoodsongs.com/>

I highly recommend the online course that Michael Daves offers through Artistworks. There are detailed lessons and study materials in bluegrass singing, including lessons on harmony. You can submit a video that Michael will respond to with detailed suggestions. At checkout, the code MICHAEL20 may still be valid for a discount. <https://artwk.co/MichaelDaves>

I am happy to suggest vocal coaches in New York City, if you email me (see footer).
